

KARTUSHOV DANIL

Email Address · LinkedIn Url · Portfolio · Github Url

Work Experience

| Work Title                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | City, Country                 |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------|
| Brief company description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | Date Start – Date End  |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Use X-Y-Z formula – Achieved [X] as measured by [Y] by doing [Z]</li><li>Make sure each bullet point is no longer than 3 sentences.</li><li>Have multiple resumes ready. Tailor the bullet points in CV to the job description.</li><li>No more than 4 bullets per each work experience.</li></ul>                                                                                                                                                                          |                               |
| Deep Learning Researcher                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | San Francisco, US      |
| Neuro — machine learning development tool for rapid model iteration                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | March 2018 – Feb. 2019 |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Improved generative model training speed by 25% by refactoring GPU-heavy pipelines and introducing mixed-precision training with PyTorch and NVIDIA Apex.</li><li>Achieved 93%+ top-1 accuracy on custom image classification datasets by adapting and fine-tuning EfficientNet and ResNet architectures.</li><li>Automated a financial analytics pipeline processing 100K+ data points daily, increasing analyst productivity by 30% and reducing manual errors.</li></ul> |                               |
| Software Engineer Intern                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | San Francisco, US      |
| Jetbrains — tools for software developers and project managers                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | Jul 2017 – Sept. 2017  |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Developed an internal system for clustering 1M+ code submissions by learning vector representations of syntax trees, improving detection of similar solutions by ~20%.</li><li>Enhanced the learning experience for 10K+ users by generating personalized tips based on structural code similarity, reducing repeated errors and boosting task completion rates.</li></ul>                                                                                                  |                               |

Education

|                                                                |                      |
|----------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------|
| National Research University Higher School of Economics | City, Country |
| Master's in Machine Learning &amp; Data Analysis        | 2020          |
| GPA: 5.0/5                                                     |                      |
| Academic University                                     | City, Country |
| BSc in Applied Math &amp; Computer Science              | 2018          |
| GPA: 4.5/5                                                     |                      |

Honors and Awards

| Awards, Scholarships, Hackathons | Date               |
|----------------------------------|--------------------|
| Details                   |                    |
| AiHack Hackathon          | March, 2018 |
| 1st place                 |                    |
| AlphaBank Hackathon       | Dec, 2017   |
| 1st place                 |                    |

Additional Information

|                                                                                                    |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Languages: Python, R, Java, Kotlin, C/C++, Scala, Ocaml, Haskell, Matlab                    |
| Technologies: git, bash, sql, gdb, docker, vagrant, jupyter, pytorch, tensorflow, keras     |
| Certifications: Software Debugging, Design of Computer Programs, Advanced Operating Systems |
| Language Skills: English fluent, Russian native                                             |